Premier Spurs Bond-Buying

DeGaulle Asks Frenchmen To Finance His Program

PARIS (AP) — Premier de Gaulle today sought a sound financial foundation for his political and colonial reform plans by asking his countrymen to dig hoarded money out of their mattresses.

France's World War II leader laid his prestige on the line Friday night in a nationwide radio-TV appeal for support for a new bond issue. He said backing it would mean a financial vote of confidence.

De Gaulle outlined them as pacification of Algeria, straightening out France's embittered relations with her territories and her lost colonies and strengthening France into an important voice in the Western Alliance.

De Gaulle turned again to the problem of Algeria today.

He summoned Jacques Soustelle, political front man for the insurgent Algerian junta, after letting him wait two days for an appointment.

There was talk De Gaulle might reprimand Soustelle for the junta's attempts to dictate to the government. But some observers predicted the Premier might ask his former Parliamentary leader to campaign in North Africa for the De Gaulle program.

At a 90-minute meeting, De Gaulle asked Soustelle to contact some of his cabinet ministers to elaborate his ideas of a settlement in Algeria. Soustelle is a former resident general there.

This mission fell far short of right-wing demands that Soustelle be included in the cabinet. At the same time it was not important enough to arouse the ire of Soustelle's many enemies among Paris politicians supporting De Gaulle.

As Soustelle was leaving De Gaulle's office, Soviet Ambassador Sergei Vinogradov walked in. He was believed delivering a note from Moscow similar to notes on a summit conference sent recently to the United States and Britain.

For the first time, De Gaulle Friday night described the future structure of France's overseas domain as a "federal" one—a vague term that could lead to something like the British Commonwealth. Paris has always exercised tight control over her overseas possessions and considered them part of the French motherland.

Even before he went on the air De Gaulle got a vote of confidence from the Algiers Committee of Public Safety, which controls the all-Algeria junta. After the speech a spokesman for the Algiers group said:

"It is time to demonstrate our unity behind the chief of government. This is no time for polemics."

De Gaulle bluntly told his radio-TV audience that buying bonds would be "the first proof of national confidence which you will give to yourselves and, a'ow me to say, which you would give to me who needs it so very, very much."

Algerian Rebel Claims America Arms France

Index Rose Point In May

Industry Output Takes First Upswing In Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. industry output rose for the first time since June last year.

The Federal Reserve Board, reporting this Friday, said the index of output for the nation's factories, mines and mills rose by one point from April to May.

This brought the index to 127 per cent of the 1947-49 average—still 18 points below the level of last August and 20 points under the record high of December 1956. The board's report was another indication that May was the best business month since the recession began last fall.

Meanwhile Secretary of Labor Mitchell confirmed that he and Vice President Nixon waged a losing fight within the administration for proposing a tax cut to Congress.

Asked at a news conference if he and Nixon had lost the argument to Secretary of the Treasury Anderson and the Federal Reserve Board, Mitchell said:

"I'll say this, Vice President Nixon and I said publicly on several occasions we favored a tax cut. The administration has not favored one."

In another economic development, the Labor Department reported that unemployment among workers insured for jobless benefits dropped during the week ending May 31 by 65,300 to the lowest level since Jan. 4.

It was the seventh consecutive week the department has reported a decline and brought the total of insured unemployment down to 2,827,600.

Another decline also was reported in initial claims for unemployment benefits, an indicator of new layoffs among covered workers. The department said initial claims dropped by 16,500 during the week ended June 7 to a new 1958 low of 321,600.

Firms Ask SUB Briefs be Filed

Steel Concerns Make Plea to Intervenor

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Steel companies involved in supplemental unemployment benefits (SUB) cases before the Ohio Supreme Court voiced a hope today that intervenors in the proceedings would—"in accordance with their previous commitment"—file briefs promptly.

But the chance of such a move in time to bring a decision before fall seemed as slim as ever. The Ohio Information Committee, which is sponsor of the intervenors, already turned down a similar speed-up request from Gov. C. William O'Neill.

The steel companies—U.S. Steel, Republic, Jones & Laughlin and Youngstown Sheet & Tube—issued a statement Friday which said:

"When the intervenors were permitted to intervene by stipulation entered into by all counsel, it was distinctly understood their participation in the litigation would at no stage delay the clearly stated desire of the main parties to get an early determination of issues, even if that meant recourse to the highest court in the state."

"Having now reached that court, it is unfortunate that counsel for the intervenors, who up to this point have studiously lived up to the spirit and letter of the original understanding, would interpose a technical objection to a prompt determination of this important issue by the Supreme Court of Ohio, especially since the basic issue has been thoroughly and completely briefed in the lower courts."

Fred J. Milligan, executive secretary of the intervenors, said.

4 Children Die In Philadelphia Fire

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Four children burned to death early today as a fire swept their West Philadelphia home.

Five others in the household escaped through windows and over a porch roof. The crackling flames beat back efforts of a frantic mother to re-enter the two-story home and rescue her son.

The dead were identified as Linda Watson, 9, son of Mrs. Ruby Watson, 34, and three grandchildren of Mrs. Watson: Nathan Fisher, 3; his sister, Ruby, 2; and Knoahyne Fisher, 6 months, all Negroes.

Heavy Fighting Erupts In Lebanon

BEIRUT (AP) — Heavy fighting erupted today inside Beirut. It looked like a showdown battle between government and rebel forces.

It was by far the worst battle in the capital since the rebellion began in Lebanon 36 days ago. At least three big battles were being fought between security forces and insurgents who are trying to overthrow the pro-Western government of President Camille Chamoun.

Ohioans to Get Weather Relief

Rains Let Up; Sunday To Be Fair and Cool

By The Associated Press

Rain-drenched and storm-weary Ohioans appeared headed for a day of rest today in their week-long battle with the elements.

The Weather Bureau forecast fair skies and cool weather for most of the state.

The storms Friday, which sent already rain-swollen streams to their banks, have moved southward into Kentucky.

The greatest amount of rainfall reported Friday was at Dayton where 3.25 inches fell. The downpour sent the receding Miami River climbing again, threatening more than 1,500 residents of the Miami Shores and Miami Villa areas just south of that city.

The Dayton rain ran the city's five-day total up to 8.22 inches, five inches above the normal for the month.

Also along the raging Miami River, just south of Middletown, the Ohio Highway Patrol used row boats to evacuate a mother and her seven children who were trapped in their home.

Extremely heavy rainfall was also reported in Sedalia with 2.96 and Columbus with 2.23.

The Weather Bureau again posted tornado warnings Friday for first the northern part of the state and then the central section.

The only reported heavy winds, however, struck Friday morning at Lockbourne Air Force Base outside Columbus where two small hangers were damaged, windows were broken and two trailers were upset.

A late afternoon storm with winds up to 70 m.p.h. roared through Urbana. Several roofs were blown off and garages moved off their foundations in that storm.

In Cincinnati lightning struck an elementary school, touching off a fire that destroyed the roof and top floor of the building.

The Weather Bureau there reported winds up to 70 m.p.h. and hail.

Trees and utility poles were reported down throughout the state as the saturated ground made no resistance to the high winds.

Flooding, however, has been very light, the Weather Bureau reported.

Red Radio Tells of Freeing 2 Priests

HONG KONG (AP) — Peiping radio announced the release today of the last two American Catholic priests imprisoned in Communist China.

The Rev. Joseph P. McCormack of the Maryknoll Seminary, Ossining, N.Y., and the Rev. John P. Wagner of Pittsburgh, Pa., and Chicago, Ill., were released at Shanghai, the broadcast said.

They were freed "on the expiration of their prison terms," the broadcast said. The two priests were arrested June 15, 1953, and sentenced to five years in prison on Communist charges of espionage.

There was no immediate indication when—or even if—the two priests might leave China.

Their release leaves four Americans known to be still in Chinese Communist jails on spy charges.

2 Ike Changes Defeated

Revision to Continue On Labor Control Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Weary senators return to the Capitol today to push ahead with votes on a labor control bill still lacking many features urged by President Eisenhower.

In a second successive 12-hour session Friday, the senators beat back two major amendments urged by the administration, with the voting largely along party lines.

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), chief author of the bill, predicted that far-reaching GOP amendments also would meet defeat today.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas called the Senate into session two hours ahead of the usual time in an effort to win final passage by tonight. But there seemed a reasonable chance the debate would run into next week.

Forty-four new amendments were on senators' desk Friday, and only two of these were disposed of during the day. Most of the amendments were from the Republicans.

The first action of the day was another amendment offered by the Eisenhower administration and strongly opposed by union leaders.

It provides that a union shall lose its right to be certified as bargaining agent and to use National Labor Relations Board procedures unless it files financial reports required by the bill.

The major provisions of the bill remained essentially unchanged after the two days of debate. These would set up union democracy procedures, including secret elections, and require detailed public financial reporting by the larger unions, and their officers.

The measure also would modify the Taft-Hartley Act to meet long standing union complaints. These provisions would repeal the requirement for filing non-Communist affidavits by union officers, permit prehire arrangements for construction unions, and allow strikers to vote in a bargaining election after they have been replaced.

Animals Can Be Alcoholics, Expert Finds

NEW YORK (AP)—A drunkard acts like a drunkard, even if he's a lamb. And the same thing goes if he's a dog, mule, pig, ape or bug.

Any of them, just like human beings, can become chronic alcoholics, says Dr. Maurice Pruitt, an expert on the subject.

And the denizens of the animal kingdom react in about the same way — bad.

Pruitt, of Chattanooga, Tenn., a specialist in treating addiction to drugs or alcohol, has amassed many case histories of animal dope fiends and boozers.

"The cases contradict the old opinion that addiction arises from moral or psychological deficiencies," he said, citing the scientific point of his studies.

"People—or animals—drink then they drink. They drink today because they drank yesterday. It's a physical affliction—not a character defect."

To back up his position, Pruitt trots out a whole stable of instances in which nature's simple beasts became sots and drug-cravers, with accompanying habits of riotous living.

"Their reactions are very similar to that in man," he said. "They forsake their responsibilities."

Even the birds and bees do it, as well as the ordinarily industrious ant, he said in an interview.

As for the bees, Pruitt told of some hives in Tennessee that began feeding on a moonshiner's still.

"As a result," he said, "they neglected their work, didn't gather enough honey, and when winter came, they began dying out."

Legless Vet Gets Degree, Says He's 'Just Plain Lucky'

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — He lost his feet and most of his hands in the Korean War, but Ed Reeves said today, "I'm just plain lucky."

Reeves, 26, is one of 17 handicapped students among 2,958 to be awarded degrees today in University of Illinois commencement exercises.

At 19, Reeves was an infantryman fighting the Chinese Communists at the Chosin Reservoir in December 1950. He was captured and left for dead. For two days he lay in 27-below zero cold until U.S. Marines found him.

His frozen feet and most of his hands were removed by surgery. What sort of luck was that?

"Well," said Reeves, of Wilmington, Ill., his eyes roving his compact mobile home eight years later. "Look what I've got."

He smiled at his wife, Beverly Jean, whom he married in September 1951, and his daughters, Michelle Lee, 4, and Melody Sue, who will be 2 in August.

A $9,000 fund raised by well-wishers while he lay in Percy Jones Hospital at Battle Creek, Mich., helped Reeves and his wife get a start.

He receives an unspecified amount of disability pension, and the GI Bill has paid for his schooling and part of his living expenses.

What about his handicap? "It isn't so much. I'm better off than lots of people that way," Reeves said.

"Everybody has his troubles. With mine, I've had a good share of luck."

Lotze Named Police Chief at East Palestine

EAST PALESTINE — Patrolman C. Richard Lotze, 24, of the East Palestine - New Waterford Road today was appointed police chief, effective Monday, by Mayor Paul Merwin. Lotze is the third East Palestine chief in six months.

Lotze succeeds Acting Chief Hugh Rambo, 45, who will return to patrolman's status.

The newly-named chief scored the higher grade in the Civil Service promotional exam Tuesday which Rambo also took. Lotze's name was certified by the Civil Service Commission, making the appointment mandatory.

Two other patrolmen are on the four-man police force, but they were ineligible to take the exam because of insufficient service.

Lotze is in this third year as a patrolman, and Rambo has served 18 years.

Rambo was named acting chief April 15 following the retirement of Paul E. Early who went on pension after 20 years on the force.

Early became chief upon the retirement of George E. Nul Dec. 31, 1957 after 30 years' service.

The force was cut by one man the first of this year in an economy move.

furor over President Eisenhower's top aide it seemed likely that no further explanation would be forthcoming for the time being.

Under persistent questioning by newsmen, White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty Friday refused to go beyond Adams' written explanation Thursday to a House subcommittee that earlier produced evidence Goldfine paid some $2,000 in Boston hotel bills for Adams over a four-year period.

And Hagerty repeated that Eisenhower has complete confidence in Adams and has no intention of firing him.

Meanwhile, Goldfine was involved in two other developments:

1. The New York Herald Tribune reported Goldfine was under investigation by the Criminal Division of the Justice Department, which it said has subpoenaed certain books and records of the New England millionaire. A spokesman for the Justice Department declined to comment on the report.

Jury Convicts Man Who Killed Beauty

BEAVER, Pa. (AP)—A jury today convicted Theodore Pallow, 25-year-old Midland, Pa., steelworker, of first degree murder for the fatal shooting of former beauty contestant Miss Rosalie Leis, 21, of Vanport, Pa. The jury recommended life imprisonment.

The verdict was returned at 12:20 a. m. by the jury of seven men and five women, nine hours after it began deliberation.

Pallow sat with his hands folded looking at the floor while his counsel, Attorney John Ray, polled the jury.

More than 300 spectators who had waited in corridors since 6 p. m. jammed the court room, to hear the verdict. Guards had to shoulder their way through the throng to bring Pallow into court.

The only principal in the trial who was in the courtroom at the time of the verdict was John (Mickey) Brkich, the fiancé of Miss Leis, who shared her affections with Pallow.

Spokesman Says U.S. Eyes War From Sidelines

American Aid Helped French to Fight On, Top Official Charges

TUNIS (AP) — Spokesman for the Algerian rebels accused the United States today of standing back and watching their rebellion like a football game while arming the French team.

The spokesman charged that only the receipt of U.S. aid has enabled France to fight the rebels for 43 months.

"Give us one plane, only one civilian transport with only one of its four engines working and we will believe the United States is not supporting French colonialism," the rebel said.

The spokesman interviewed in Tunis is an important official of the National Liberation Front, the spearhead of the rebellion, who cannot be identified by name. He was accompanied by a man introduced as a major just back from fighting with the rebel army.

The official repeated earlier rebel rejections of French Premier de Gaulle's offer of equal French citizenship to the Algerian Arabs and Berbers in hopes of ending the uprising. De Gaulle also promised on a tour of Algeria last week to call local elections there soon.

The spokesman said, "Details of his politics and proposals that interest the West do not interest us at all."

Since the rebellion started in November 1954 the nine million Algerians have suffered more than 600,000 casualties of killed wounded and missing, the spokesman said. "In light of that, it is a mockery to ask me what the people think of De Gaulle's proposal for elections."

The rebel army has grown from about 3,000 men armed with hunt-rifles, knives and clubs to about 130,000 men now, the official said. He claimed the rebels have had some airplanes, although none have been reported in operation with rebel forces.

Further details of rebel military strength were withheld by the spokesman.

Driver Is Arrested After Road Mishap

One driver was arrested as the result of one of three traffic mishaps investigated by state highway patrolmen on area roads Friday and this morning.

Earl S. Barkley, 34, of RD. 1, New Waterford was cited for driving left of center following an accident at 2:15 a. m. today on Rt. 14, five miles east of Columbiana.

Patrolmen said Barkley's truck went out of control on a curve, left the road and crashed into two trees and a driveway culvert at the home of Keith Madden of RD. New Waterford.

The vehicle also tore up some lawn.

Considerable damage was caused to the front end of the truck.

Deer Killed By Car
A car driven by Robert Moore, 45, of Chester, W. Va., struck and killed a deer on Rt. 7, two miles south of Rogers, Friday at 11:10 p. m.

The carcass was turned over to County Game Warden R. L. Lide, patrolman said.

The auto sustained slight damage.

Charles A. Scott, 40, of Columbiana told patrolmen an approaching auto forced his truck off the road at 7:35 p. m. Friday on Rt. 14, three miles east of Columbiana.

The truck knocked over a highway sign, but no damage was caused to the vehicle.

Bible Words for Today

II CORINTHIANS 5:17—"Therefore if any one is in Christ, he is a new creation; the old has passed away, behold, the new has come." (RSV)

As one travels from the sun warmed beaches of Mexico to the frozen wastes of the Alaskan interior he is impressed by the variety of God's creation and by the adaptability of much of the plant life. However, nothing in life is so adaptable and so enduring as the soul of man. One of the greatest joys in life is to see the power of the resurrection in a family and see them become entirely different people than they were before.

We can repair machinery and "makeover" clothing; we graft new characteristics into plants and breed animals for special purposes, but they are all partial changes. When the spirit of God takes hold of our lives and we have been willing to surrender ourselves and be lost "in Christ," God turns us around and we have a clean slate before us to tell of our own experience within His grace and His love.

Pastor of Washingtonville Church 56 Years In Ministry

The Rev. S. D. Myers of 2106 S. Seneca St., Alliance celebrated his 56th anniversary as a Lutheran minister June 8.

Now 81, he is continuing his preaching at Trinity Lutheran Church in Washingtonville.

Pastor of Trinity Church since June 1949, Rev. Myers "retired" in August, 1945 as active minister after serving for 15 years as pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Alliance. However, because of the urgent need for ministers, Rev. Myers has been busy throughout his retirement.

He served the East Canton and New Baltimore parishes prior to taking the Washingtonville pastorate. He has made a trip there every Sunday and several times a week in all kinds of weather.

In January, 1957, he suffered a broken leg in an automobile accident and was bedfast for several months. During this period he saw that supply ministers were present at his church. When he was able to resume his duties, his daughter, Mrs. Lucile Bucher, served as his driver.

A native of Jeannette, Pa., where he was born Sept. 20, 1876, Rev. Myers graduated from Thiel College in Greenville, Pa. in June, 1899 and from the Chicago Lutheran Seminary in June, 1902. He was ordained in the Emmanuel Lutheran Church near Nappanee, Ind., and served his first parish there where he met and married Sophia Mahler Myers, who died in 1934.

His pastorates have included churches in Nappanee, Vandalia, Ill.; Whitestown, Ind.; Doylestown, Pa.; Alliance and Washingtonville. He has spent 45 of his 81 years in Ohio.

He has five children, Mrs. Helen Hoffman, with whom he makes his home, Mrs. Bucher and Paul L. Myers of Alliance, Mrs. Ruth Stevenson of Muncie, Ind., Mrs. Dorothy Gage of Stockport; and six grandchildren.

Rev. Myers, one of a family of nine children, has a living sister and two brothers, Mrs. Jennie Mowrey of Lima, 91; Jacob of Jeannette, Pa., 80; and Charles of Chicago, 76.

With the exception of a slight limp as a result of his broken leg, Rev. Myers is in good health and is active in church and community work. He enjoys gardening, reading, television and is a Cleveland Indian fan.

Maine) said he received a vicuna coat from Goldfine some time ago. He described Goldfine as a "long and close friend" who had never asked any favors. Payne said his family had exchanged gifts with the Goldfines at Christmas time.

In a letter to subcommittee Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark), Adams acknowledged he had been a hotel guest of Goldfine in Boston and Plymouth, Mass. Describing Goldfine as an old friend, Adams said he had thought Goldfine kept the hotel rooms on a permanent basis.

Although saying he had contacted two federal regulator agencies on cases involving Goldfine, Adams said insinuations that he had sought or obtained favored treatment for his friend were unwarranted and unfair.

Hagerty, who said Adams had knocked the favored treatment allegations "into a cocked hat," refused to say whether Adams, as reported, had accepted a $700 vicuna coat or a $2,400 Oriental rug from Goldfine. Adams' letter said nothing about a coat or a rug. He has been unavailable to newsmen.

Subcommittee Counsel Robert W. Lishman said he has no evidence Adams received such gifts from the wealthy Boston industrialist.

Meanwhile, the House subcommittee checking influence on federal regulatory agencies focused on hearings starting Monday that might shed light on whether Adams swung federal favors for his Boston friend.

So far, there has been no evidence on the subcommittee record as to whether Adams helped Goldfine in troubles with the Federal Trade Commission and Securities and Exchange Commission.

Rep. Peter F. Mack (D-Ill.), who has called for Adams' resignation, said there is no special need now for the Harris subcommittee to concentrate on what further favors Adams may have received.

"He has already admitted to receiving quite substantial gifts," said Mack, a subcommittee member. Mack said the point is to show that Adams intervened from his important White House job to help Goldfine — a point Mack contended is already indicated by the record.

Missing Flier Is Picked Up

Donald Keeton 'Just Wanted to See Girl'

DALLAS (AP)—Airman Donald Keeton, picked up here today after a mysterious flight from Mississippi in a light plane, said "I just wanted to see my girl, it was kind of a crazy idea."

But his flight, which he said included evasive tactics when pursued by fighter planes and a crash landing in a swampy field, was in vain.

"I'll still date him," his girl friend said, but she asserted she felt she was still too young to marry.

She rushed into his arms at the police station and Keeton flushed and embraced her. They talked in low tones for a minute or two before she faced newsmen.

"He just walked into my room, woke me up and said, 'hi, mom,'" his mother said. "My faith was never shaken. I'm so relieved."

The 19-year-old airman, who left a suicide note before going aloft in a rented plane Thursday morning at Gulfport, Miss., was picked up at his mother's home.

"I landed the plane in a swampy field near Tyley (Tex.). There's not a scratch on it," he said. He said he had expected to make it to Dallas, but had run out of gas because of low altitude flying and evasive action.

"I didn't have any particular way to get up here," he said. "I was unable to get leave. I wanted to see my girl, it was kind of a crazy idea."

"I didn't think it would do any good to talk to her by phone, I needed to see her," he said.

Before the girl came to the station he said "the police tell me here I'll be able to see her and if I do it will be worth it for just an AWOL. I still haven't given up hope of winning her back," he said.

retary of the Ohio Information Committee, was tagged by Gov. O'Neill Friday as one who "is preventing the court from hearing it (the SUB case) when all interested parties are ready to have it heard and decided."

Milligan, whose organization includes a number of small industrial and commercial employers, also was mentioned by name in the steel companies' statement. In Columbus he replied to both the governor and the steel companies Friday night. To O'Neill he replied:

"The sole purpose of the Ohio Information Committee is to sustain the decision of the voters of Ohio who rejected SUB by a vote of 2-1 in 1955; the Ohio Legislature which rejected SUB in 1955 and 1957 and the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation which rejected SUB in 1956 and 1957."

"We cannot sustain those decisions by waiving our rights. Consequently, the governor's statement will not change our plans."

To the steel companies' statement, Milligan responded that the normal 40-day filing period for Supreme Court briefs was a basic right and the intervenors "have never at any time agreed to waive their basic right."

"If the Supreme Court felt the intervenors were delaying so as to jeopardize the interests of the case, the court could have asked to shorten the time to file briefs," Milligan continued.

He said the 15 million dollars in the employee trust fund for SUB could be distributed to unemployed workers anytime the union and companies agree and without state action. The trial court here, however, cautioned against this process, since if the lower court decisions are reversed the money would have to be reimbursed to the BUC.

Bowers had contended the sales were made at the time the original orders were assigned and the board agreed.

In another case the board granted tax exemption to land the Marietta Memorial Hospital had purchased recently.

Potters Plan Annual Outing Next Saturday

A crowd of 35,000 from ceramic centers throughout the Eastern United States is expected at Meyers Lak ePark in Canton Saturday, June 21, for the 30th annual Potters Picnic.

The crowd at two previous outings hit 35,000—in 1957 and 1955. In other years, the attendance ranged from 25,000 to 30,000.

Highlights of the picnic, as always, will be a big baby show, a penny scramble for youngsters and a "junior bathing beauty" contest for children 4 to 7.

The day-long program will get under way at 11 a.m., beginning of a two-hour period of free rides that will continue until 1. In previous years, the free rides were in effect from 10 a.m. to noon, but many families said they had to leave their homes too early to take advantage of the plan, the committee said.

Baby Contest Scheduled

A baby show termed "the largest in Ohio" will start at 1:30 p.m. in the park's indoor dancing pavilion. There are three age brackets—children up to 1, those 1-2 and those 2-3. In each bracket, first prize will be $50, with a big baby doll for the second and third-place winners. All other entrants will receive a baby set—a plate and cup of heavy ware.

Registered nurses from Canton hospitals will serve as judges. The baby show generally attracts a field of 250 to 300, along with a crowd of spectators.

A penny scramble for children in three age brackets will be held at 2:15, also in the dancing pavilion. Committee members will scatter 500 pennies for the youngsters to scoop up off the polished maple floor.

The "junior bathing beauty" contest is scheduled at 3:30 p.m. in Moonlight Gardens the resort's outdoor dancing pavilion. It is for boys and girls 4 through 7 inclusive.

First prize will be $100; second, $50, and third, $10. The "bathing beauty" show generally attracts a field of 300 to 400.

A couple of the traditional events have been canceled, including free dancing, a baseball game and a series of races and other athletic contests.

Members of the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters are expected at the reunion from ceramic centers throughout Ohio, West Virginia and Pennsylvania and other points in the east and midwest. The picnic attracts the heaviest crowds from cities in this area, including East Liverpool, Chester, Wellsville, Newell, Salem, East Palestine, Minerva, Sebring, Beaver Falls and Canonsburg.

The picnic committee, headed by Al Kenst of Salem, with P. K. Calhoun of East Liverpool as secretary and James Slaven of Cannons Mills as treasurer.

Women's GOP Club Will Meet Monday

The Women's Republican Club will meet Monday at 7:45 p.m. The program will commemorate in the Ruth Smucker House.

2 Navy Sailors Asphyxiated in Ship Accident

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Two Navy sailors were asphyxiated Friday night when carbon dioxide from the fire smothering system of the destroyer Cogswell was released into a closed compartment, the Navy said.

Three other sailors were treated for carbon dioxide poisoning at the Navy hospital. A spokesman said they were in satisfactory condition.

Names of the dead men were withheld pending notification of next of kin. The survivors are: Frederick C. Grinnell, 21, an electrician's mate 3.C. of Port Angeles, Wash.

La Virne Berry, 21, an interior communication electrician 2.C. of Salda, Calif.
Gerald Jan Stark, 16, a fireman of Confrey, Minn.

The Cogswell was berthed alongside the destroyer tender Dixie in San Diego Bay.

Rear Adm. Frank Penno, commander of the Pacific Destroyer-Cruiser Force, said the accident occurred in the emergency diesel generator room, one deck below the main deck.

Clarifies Statement In Sailing Incident

Mrs. George Bearer, leader of a group of Mariner Girl Scouts whose sail boat was overdue on Lake Erie Monday night when unfavorable winds delayed the craft's cruise toward port, pointed out again today that the group was never lost.

She said she had been in touch by phone with her husband, who in turn, had notified the parents of the scouts and that, therefore, there was no justification for the alarm that resulted from what she said was only a two-hour delay in getting into Cleveland.

The statement in a News account of the incident Tuesday that the girls were not permitted to call home was not correct, Mrs. Bearer said.

The Mariner scouts had an enjoyable as well as educational sailing trip and are anxious for another voyage, she said.

Tariff Still a Local Issue

In the 24 years since reciprocal trade became national policy, all the things that were expected to change have remained the same.

Tariff is still a local issue for politicians. Protection for specific industries still is a necessity in conflict with the necessity of buying as well as selling in the foreign market.

The dilemma that concerned William McKinley, who once had been the ablest spokesman for tariff protection when the country's industrialism was gathering strength, still puzzles congressmen. How to live in an interdependent world without sacrificing a little independence?

For McKinley, tariff always was an issue of national policy. The purpose of tariff protection was to build a strong industrial foundation. But once the foundation had been built, even a protectionist would have to concede, as McKinley conceded, that reciprocity would be needed to keep the country strong. The tilt between protectionists and those who wanted reciprocity began before the turn of the century and is still continuing.

In the latest showdown, reciprocity has been renewed by a one-sided House vote in a stronger form than ever before — for five years, instead of only two years, as in the past. This was done by the combined votes of Democrats and Republicans, with Democrats supporting the Eisenhower administration more strongly than Republicans.

This kind of coalition has given rise to the truism that tariff is essentially a local issue in politics that cuts across party lines, as it did in the House voted this year. What the Senate vote will look like is anyone's guess, but it probably will turn out the same way.

When all the protectionist speeches have been made for the record, senators who feel they must vote for protection to represent their states will vote that way. But senators whose states have a balance of interest between reciprocity and protection will resolve the difference in favor of reciprocity — and they will be the majority.

Investigators Can 'Git' You

The possibility that Sherman Adams might be nibbled to death one of these days by investigative ducks is suggested again by inclusion of his name in testimony before the House subcommittee on legislative oversight.

The title of this committee should not be misinterpreted. It does not mean the House has been neglecting any of its duties. It means the House has a duty to oversee regulatory agencies.

These are the agencies that politicians routinely make contact with in behalf of their constituents, which is a service all politicians are expected to perform. All that is necessary to prove the politicians are on the job is to investigate their contacts with the agencies.

But the investigation can be carried on in a manner to suggest that a routine performance is an underhanded, corrupt, sly maneuver. At any given moment at any given day a public figure can be smeared from head to toe with innuendos, exposed to ridicule by a caving press and made the victim of as ruthless a character assassination as anything ever done in Moscow, where assassinations do not always stop at character.

The House subcommittee on legislative oversight demonstrated this earlier in the year when it drove Richard A. Mack out of the Federal Communications Commission. Its new targets of interest are the Federal Trade Commission and the Securities and Exchange Commission—and as before, it will turn out that one of the Washingtonians who got in touch with them and sometimes was in touch with people who had business pending before them was Sherman Adams, the presidential assistants. His name and others will be dragged through just enough innuendo to give gullible citizens the impression some kind of funny business was going on.

The funny business going on, however, will be in the House subcommittee on legislative oversight, which has rediscovered a technique most Americans hoped had been allowed to lapse in Washington—the technique of smearing reputations by innuendo and doubts planted in the minds of half-informed people who do not understand that government, like any other human activity, is carried on by methods commonplace among human beings.

If the investigative ducks nibble on the implacable Mr. Adams long enough, they might reduce his granite reputation to tatters at that.

One Charge at a Time

Cyrus Eaton, generally speaking, needs no help in his tiff with the chairman of the House Committee on Un-American Activities. Mr. Eaton is well able to take care of himself, having attained an age and a degree of wealth that makes him immune to personal injury.

But those who close in when notables bicker are always in danger of being knocked askew by a stray stone. In this bicker, the stray stone to keep an eye on is Mr. Eaton's opinion that the Federal Bureau of Investigation and other federal security agencies are "snooping, informing and creeping up on people."

This is opinion, and Mr. Eaton is free to speak his mind. It is of no interest to the House Committee on Un-American Activities what a citizen thinks about any federal bureau or agency. At least, it is of no legitimate interest.

But if Mr. Eaton has been so friendly with Soviet officials that he might be in technical violation of the Logan Act, the Un-American Activities Committee, or some committee, should find out about it. The Logan Act says no U.S. citizen shall be in touch with the agents of a foreign government in an effort to influence U.S. foreign policy.

Anyone who gets struck accidentally by the idea that a citizen can be investigated for criticizing even the well-thought-of FBI needs to be restored to his senses — and this might include the chairman of the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

QUITE A FEW big men are getting lauded for their ability to answer five or six phones at once. Is this ability or mental stability? A man who isn't satisfied using two phones is merely giving a demonstration in weird office conduct.

It is just another proof of the terrific pace of modern business life and explains the big demand for tranquilizer pills. (A man who answers six phones at once probably wouldn't take pills unless he got them from six drugstores.)

JACKIE GLEASON will return to the air with a drug company as one of his sponsors. You won't have to have a prescription to get him. Gleason has all the vitamins and can make millions feel better. If you feel tired, low and depressed he can make you feel good, without aspirin as an additive.

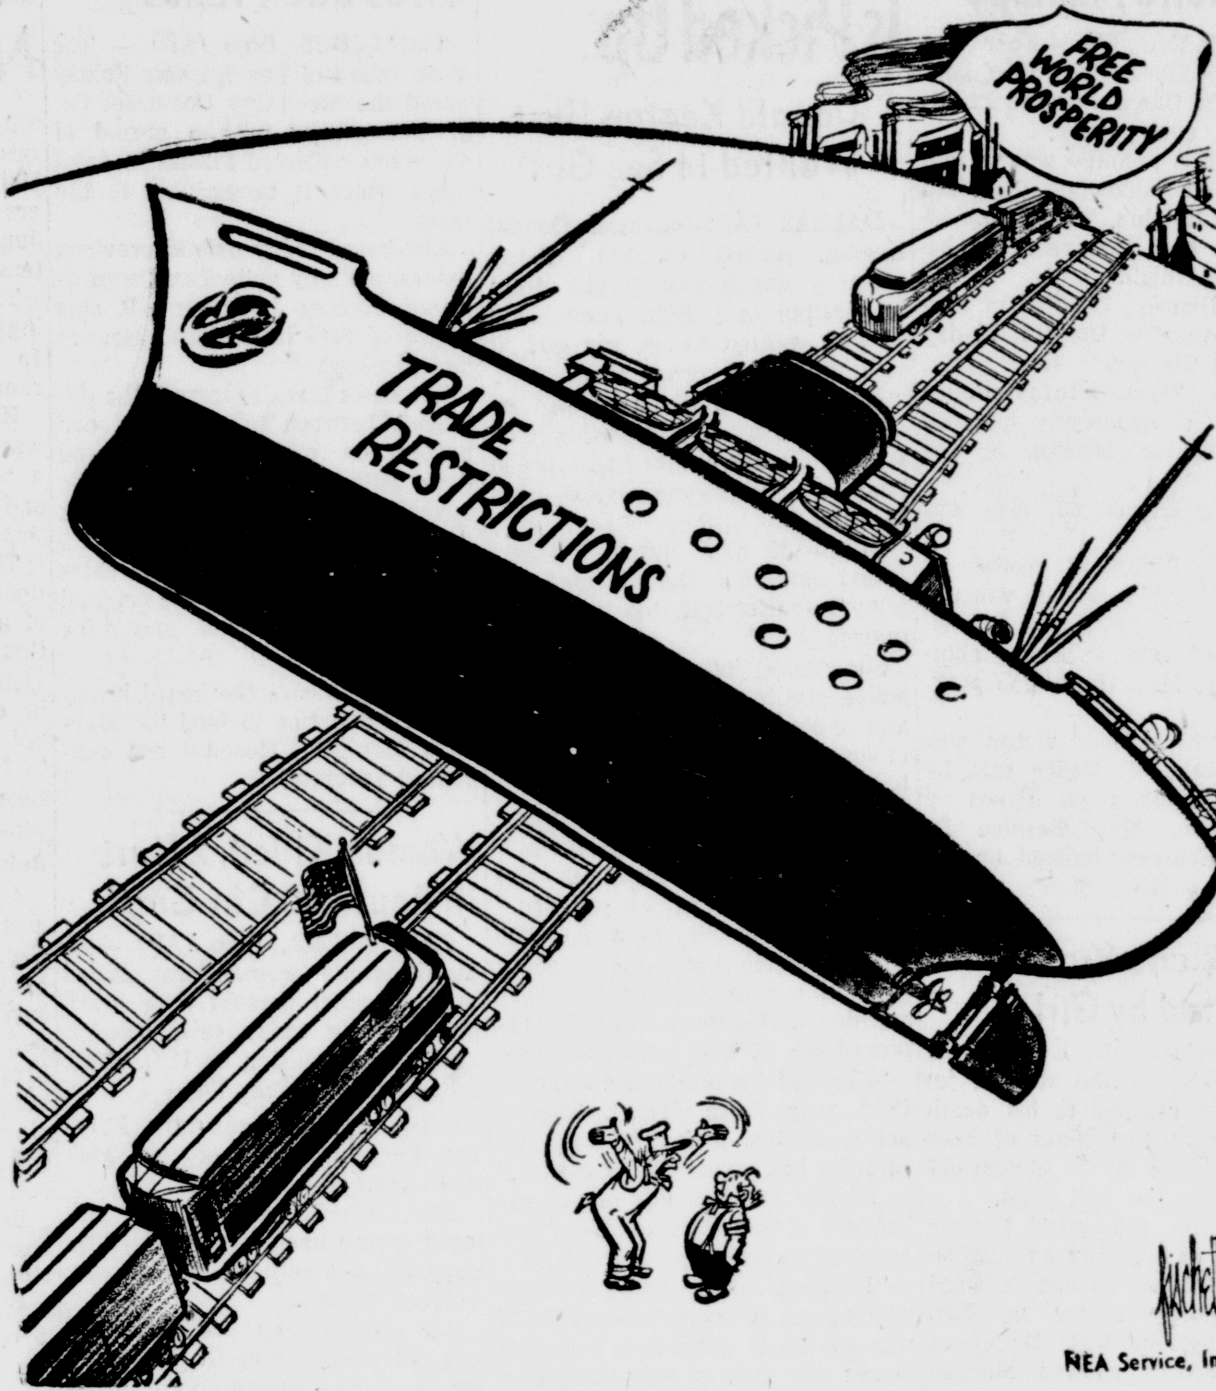

We would like to see a TV commercial with a drawing showing how Jackie works on the human body. The human head with a hammer pounding away in one section until a Gleason routine comes bubbling through and the human stomach illustrating how much faster a Gleason program can eliminate acid indigestion than most programs.

Berle is coming back, too. It looks like a return of the boisterous type of humor and a decline of the subtle school of comedians.

PAY LESS ATTENTION to the fellow who does 42 miles on a 40-mile speed limit road and concentrate on the real highway menace and potential killer, the arrogant, brazen autoist who brushes off all the rules of safety with a cry of "Give nobody an even break!" This is urged by an AAA official as the only way to stop slaughter. He's right or nearly so. You can stand on any highway and have a chill sent down your spine by the performance of the wild drivers who have it easy because the cops are chasing some decent guy hurrying home to a sick wife.

The weavers, caution-light sneerers, racers and thumb-nosers at every highway rule and law are the real killers. They should be Target Number One.

'I Don't Care How It Got There---Move It!'

East Germany Headache

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—Release of nine Americans, taken prisoner when their Army helicopter landed in red-run East Germany, is being delayed because of this country's weird relationship with the Communist world.

It goes like this: The United States and other Western nations do not recognize the Communist government of East Germany. This country, allied with West Germany, wants German reunification under free elections.

The Western Allies argue that in accordance with the American-British-French - Russian postwar agreement on Germany, all their dealings with East Germany must be done with the Soviet Union.

When the nine Americans and their helicopter strayed into East Germany June 7 and landed there, this country, instead of appealing to the East Germans for their release, appealed to the Russians.

On June 9 the Russian Embassy in East Berlin refused to step into the case, saying the problem was under the jurisdiction of the East German government. This was one more needle to force American recognition of the German Communists.

The next day, June 10, at his news conference Secretary of State Dulles said the United States would deal with the East German Reds, if necessary, to obtain the nine men's release.

Dulles said: "When it comes to getting Americans out of a country, we don't stand on ceremony, you deal with the kidnappers."

But he added: Dealing with the East Germans in this case still wouldn't mean this country recognized the East German government.

On June 11 the East German Communists promised a quick release for the nine Americans if the United States acted in a "normal and reasonable" manner although they didn't explain what those two words meant. They'd negotiate, they said.

Thursday Lincoln White, a State Department spokesman, was asked if this country had started negotiations for the nine Americans. He said no. Why not? The Russian refusal to step in was in a statement. It wasn't a formal note.

So, although Dulles had said this country wouldn't wait on ceremony, White said this country was waiting for a formal Russian refusal before turning directly to the East Germans.

Asked how long this country intended to wait for the formal note of Russian refusal before appealing to the East Germans, White said he didn't know but "we don't intend to wait forever."

The Soviet Union made it official Friday in a letter delivered to the U.S. Embassy in Bonn. It said return of the Americans is "not within the competence of the Soviet forces" and referred U.S. authorities to the East German government.

The State Department might decide to try again at a higher Soviet level. Otherwise the problem becomes one of technique—how to deal with a regime whose existence as a government is not officially acknowledged. A Bonn embassy spokesman said he didn't know what the next step would be.

Dealing with the East Germans, whom it doesn't recognize, will put this country in the same position in which it found itself when dealing with the Red Chinese whose government it doesn't recognize, either.

Ever since Chiang Kai-shek in 1949 was thrown off the China mainland by the Red Chinese and fled to Formosa, this country, now allied with him, has refused to recognize the Chinese Communist government on the mainland.

Nevertheless Americans fought the so-called Chinese volunteers in Korea and worked out a Korean armistice mad possible only because the United States and Red China abide by it.

And, still not recognizing the Red Chinese, this government has been negotiating with them since 1955 for the release of Americans they hold as prisoners.

To Dad on His Day

By PAUL STEINER

Father's Day rolls around again and daddy is the hero of the hour—or even 24 of them. Unhappily, however, there doesn't seem to be the same feeling of love and respect which greets Mother's Day—as note the following quotes by the great and near-eminent, all of whom had fathers.

"It is impossible to please the whole world and your father as well." Jean de la Fontaine, 17th century French writer.

"Put father back at the head of the family."—Samuel S. Leibowitz, senior judge of Brooklyn's highest criminal court.

"Father is the head of the family, so he is the one who gets all the headaches."—Al Barker, Cincinnati greeting card designer.

"Many an excellent man is tempted to forget that the best offering he can make his children is himself."—Henry Neuman author and educator.

"How can you blame a teenager for being confused when the chances are his father's whole attitude on safety is to talk like a saint and drive like a devil?"—Paul Jones, National Safety Council information director.

"What a father says to his children is not heard by the world, but it will be heard by posterity."—Jean Paul Richter in "Levana."

"Nearly every father is a firm believer in heredity—until his son makes a fool of himself."—Richard R. Falk, New York publicist.

"With the growth of modern civilization, the role of the father is being increasingly taken over by the state, and there is reason to think that a father may cease before long to be biologically advantageous, at any rate in the wage earning class."—Bertrand Russell in "Marriage and Morals."

"My father taught me to work; he did not teach me to love it."—Abraham Lincoln.

"A father is a banker provided by nature."—French proverb.

"Fathers, forcing their way to the baby food racks in the supermarket, leaving the relative quiet of home for the din of a Cub Pack meeting, trying to make the best of a bad situation in the principal's office, may well turn their thoughts to the comparative ease and pleasure of the old army life."—Dorothy Barclay in the New York Times.

"A man with five children is better satisfied than a man with five million dollars. The man with five million dollars wants more."—Walter Slezak.

Key To World Peace

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Russia Must Abandon News Censorship

Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of Great Britain has just stated the biggest single truth that can make the difference between world peace and another world war. He puts his emphasis on the word "truth" and declares it cannot be achieved between the West and the East until the Soviet government abandons its censorship of communications.

The prime minister didn't specifically say so but his remarks at the National Press Club here could apply to the untruthful statement made over a nationwide television network last Sunday by Mikhail Menshikov, the Soviet ambassador, who, too, called for mutual trust but then went on to tell a barefaced lie. He said there is no censorship of the news coming out of Russia.

Here are Prime Minister Macmillan's exact words in his speech on Wednesday:

"I think there can be no real understanding and friendship between these two great divisions of the world until the Soviet Union has achieved sufficient self-confidence to abandon the control and censorship of communications."

"It is rather depressing to me that even now the Soviet government should think it necessary to spend so much time, effort, ingenuity and money on jamming the broadcasts from the Western countries. And as long as this kind of negative thinking prevails, there can be no great optimism about the prospects for a wide, more comprehensive settlement."

THIS, OF COURSE, is the root of the trouble — it's the perennial cause of misunderstanding and mistrust.

Since the news of what is happening inside the Soviet Union is censored and the people of that country are not permitted to read what is happening in their own government or in the governments abroad, there can be no solid basis for a peaceful relationship.

Inevitably distortions will lead to the misunderstandings and miscalculations which so often in the past have brought on war.

Throughout the whole world today there is a demand by public opinion that every step humanly possible shall be taken to avert a war. Many persons have gone to lengths almost of fanaticism in arguing, for instance, that suspension of nuclear tests is a start toward avoidance of war. But this is a delusion.

The Soviet Union may prate about a desire to stop testing but there are enough H-bombs already in its stockpile to destroy hundreds of millions of human beings if war does break out.

THE MISGUIDED theory that suspension of the tests would be an effective beginning overlooks the adamant attitude of the Soviets toward any restriction or control by inspection that would ban the actual production of the destructive bombs.

Yet in America there are factions, some of them partisans, which have sought to make it appear that the United States is blocking peace because it doesn't want to agree to suspend nuclear tests without some controls on the production and use of H-bombs.

Many prominent Democrats have put themselves in the position of aiding the Soviet side of the debate by insisting that a suspension of nuclear tests alone is desirable, no matter whether any other agreements are reached.

Prime Minister Macmillan, however, who has to face in his own country the same kind of misuse of international issues for partisan purposes, takes the flat position that suspension of nuclear tests cannot be agreed to by Great Britain until it has full knowledge of atomic matters that now are withheld by the United States through an act of Congress.

TO PUT IT another way, the Prime Minister is thinking of the security of his own country. He puts first and foremost the necessity of more testing and ties this to a further acquisition from the United States of scientific data that can be utilized in British tests.

What seems strange is that, with all the disclosures in recent testimony in Congress about the horrible ways by which germs now can be used in chemical warfare, no group of zealots has come forward to demand that these tests—which are going on all the time in the laboratories of the world — shall also be suspended.

Indeed Khrushchev has just announced an expansion of the chemical industry in the Soviet Union.

It isn't the testing of devices or the scientific knowledge of death-dealing weapons that menaces the peace of the world. It isn't the weapon itself but the mind that orders the trigger pulled, that must be restrained.

This cannot be controlled so long as the people of the Soviet Union themselves are enslaved and are not allowed to get uncensored news of their own country and the rest of the world.

Welfare Pork Barrel

By RAYMOND MOLEY

The Douglas "Area Redevelopment Bill," S. 3883 has passed the Senate and is now pending in the House. Were its implications not so serious, it could easily pass as an act of comedy.

Never, since the once famous but now almost forgotten EPIC movement promoted by Upton Sinclair in California in 1934, has anything so absurd seriously approached reality.

Indeed, it has the same basic elements as the older "production for use, not profit" crazes. For it would, through a federal bureaucracy, enter an area, either industrial or rural which is not doing well economically and open up abandoned or unused factories, bring in new machinery and presumably put people to work making whatever they could make—all with federal money.

I see no reason why the same thing could not happen, under the terms of the bill, with abandoned farms.

MOREOVER, the plan would be to seize upon the idle, rusty individuals in the area and put them into vocational schools.

Then, when everybody was working at producing what was not needed, "prevailing wage rates" would be paid for a 40-hour week.

It should be noted first that this adventure in socialism (for it is not unlike the socialist colonies of the Fourier type which flourished and failed back in the 1840's) is to be bestowed, according to the bill, only on places where there has been long-term and "persistent" distress.

Thus, it cannot be merely a scheme to help a community which is suddenly in trouble because of this recession.

It would aim to bring to life cases of chronic community deterioration. So it would not be a temporary affair but would continue on and on, for chronic illness needs protracted treatment.

Forty-six senators voted for this, in many cases not so much to rehabilitate decayed industry and farms but to rebuild broken-down political fences. For nothing but a pork barrel would have rallied some of the co-sponsors who helped Douglas put the show on the road.

To their everlasting credit, minority senators on the Banking and Currency Committee scored the bill with blistering and incontrovertible facts. They were Senators Fulbright, Robertson, Frear, Capehart, Bricker, Bennett and Bush.

Tests by doctors and psychiatrists before issuing licenses to any auto driver are urged in court which says roads are loaded with cars driven by people who are mental cases. (Ya mean there are some drivers who are not!) There can be no safety until emotionally disturbed are kept from driver's wheel, he says. He's correct.

The simple truth is that mankind gets emotionally disturbed the moment his hands grip the wheel of a car. The idea of having psychiatrists examine applicants is good. But who will examine the psychiatrists?

The psychiatrist who treats people humanely on a couch will chase them up telephone poles on the open road. And many a physician after advising patient to slow down will leap into his sedan, cut corners, dash through red lights and "wonder where the yellow went."

POSSIBLE PSYCHIATRIC case reports:

Case No. 1. Substantial citizen and grad of four colleges but has spells when he undergoes complete character change, turning mean and dangerous. Spells occur only when on open road in auto. During exam on office couch psychiatrist put auto wheel on couch and started invisible motor. Patient immediately became violent and drove couch through office walls.

Case No. 2. Driver arrested for operating car recklessly, showing no regard for others. Taken to police station and asked for his certificate of examination by psychiatrist he replied, "I have none, I'm a psychiatrist." Desk sergeant immediately became emotionally disturbed.

Case No. 3. Operator, taken in for passing school bus, ignoring school zone and otherwise behaving like a menace to public safety, was placed on couch and asked to tell all. To question, "Did you get a health certificate for your driving license?" he replied with complete frankness, "Doctor, let's level. At the wheel of an auto I am not a man with a health certificate. I am a hog with a registration number."

(It just goes to show. If we are examined by a psychiatrist for the right to drive we will insist that he lie on his couch while we

Confident Living

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE
How to Handle Criticism

A friend of mine, while shopping in a department store glove department, witnessed an interesting demonstration in human nature, controlled and uncontrolled.

A well-dressed woman was returning some gloves with the complaint that she had been given the wrong ones. It was easy to see that she was very upset. In a most violent manner, out of all proportion to the error, she vented her annoyance by pouring out upon an unfortunate salesgirl a tirade of abuse.

The clerk, however, retained her composure. She listened patiently and politely, remaining very courteous very quiet and very pleasant. Presently the angry woman ran down. She glanced around and saw other customers and clerks covertly watching her. She flushed and said with some confusion, "I suppose I have made an exhibition of myself. We all have tempers, don't we? But of course you understand. Really, I'm very sorry."

THE TROUBLE IS that people cannot be expected to understand. You can never write off your own bad temper so easily. But this particular salesgirl was able to reply in a kindly voice and with sincerity: "Yes, I do understand. You must be tired. And I was so stupid. I did give you the wrong gloves. I'm so sorry. Here are the right ones, and aren't they nice. I'm sure you'll like them."

The mollified and embarrassed woman said, "Oh, yes, these are lovely gloves." And she took them and went away as quickly as possible, but not without saying to the clerk: "You are a very nice girl."

My friend had watched all this and, after the woman left, she went over and asked the clerk, "It is amazing how you calmed that woman and restored her balance. How did you do it?"

"Well," the clerk said, "I saw the state she was in, so I began to bless her."

"You did what?" exclaimed the other.

"Yes," the clerk reiterated, "I blessed her all the time she was ranting. I began to think of her as a child of God. I sent out good will thoughts toward her. Quietly in my own mind I saw her, not as she was acting, but as she really is in her soul."

THE YOUNG WOMAN revealed great skill in handling not only criticism but hostility as well. She also showed great insight to realize the highly tense condition of the customer. She used the counterforce of good will most effectively. What happened was that the good will thoughts moving out encountered the hostility coming in. The two forces met and, as good will is always more powerful than ill will, it won the situation and harmony was restored.

The salesgirl acted as though she had actually taken to heart twenty three of the hardest, toughest, but most effective words ever spoken: "Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them which despitefully use you." The One who first spoke these words has been called an impractical visionary. Yet, more realistic or practical advice has never been given. That sentence expresses a way of life that really works. But it is a hard way of life and it takes real people to apply it.

NEVERTHELESS, that life — really living the religion most of us claim to believe in — is the only life that can enable you to rise victorious over hostility and hatred which manifest themselves in unkind and unjust criticism.

For one thing, living that life gives you what the Quakers call "peace at the center" — peace deep inside oneself.

With inner peace you can always handle criticism because it cannot touch your control center. This profound peace protects you from that sensitiveness which throws you off balance. You will not fight back and thus keep hostility going because peace of heart gives a calm understanding of others' motives and enable you to have true forbearance. In other words, you can take it without giving back in kind. It always takes two to have a fight, and if you stay calm and maintain a kindly and forgiving spirit you've got your critics licked. They can't touch you.

YOU CANNOT AVOID criticism, for this is the way life is. But, peace at the center acts as your shock absorber. It's as though you had inside you a great big quiet pond. A stone thrown into it may cause a momentary ripple, but the stone vanishes into its depths and the wavelets quickly subside. Just go on doing your honest, dead level best. Keep on loving people treating everyone right. Maintain that center of peace and you will handle criticism so well that it will grow less and less.

Injured Son Unites Divorced Couple

GLENDAL, Calif. (AP)—Donald Rose and Virginia Rose stood by the bed of their 5-year-old son, Donny, as a minister reunited them in marriage.

But it was Donny who reunited them in spirit.

His father was working in Fort Wayne, Ind., when he learned Donny had been struck in the left eye by a fragment of pottery and might lose sight in the eye. The father flew to Los Angeles.

Donald, 32, and Virginia, 37, had been divorced two years. But as they prayed together at Donny's bedside they realized they belonged together.

The boy won a 1,000-to-a-chance operation was successful and the eye was saved. Thursday night, in his room at Glendale Memorial Hospital, Donny won something else: a father.

Donny's physician, Dr. Orrie Grist, was the best man.

Donald Sr. is going back to Fort Wayne for his things. Then he'll move here to rebuild his family life.

"We have to stay together," he said. "If anything else comes up, we'll just straighten it out, that's all."

Little Man... Big Problem

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Buddy was going to the circus today, but he woke up with the sniffles this morning and the whole thing had to be called off!

While grown-ups learn to shrug off disappointments like that, it isn't easy for a child. Buddy's mother will soon come to the rescue with a special taffy pull or a favorite story-reading session, and that will help cushion the blow.

But there will be times when Buddy will have to stand up to far greater tests than this, and when he will have to take far greater disappointments in stride. That's one of the reasons his mother has started taking him to Church and Church School. It isn't that the Church serves as a cushion in times of stress . . . rather, it stands as a pillar of strength, lending support to all who come within it.

2 Restraining Orders Are Issued by Court

LISBON — Two restraining orders were issued Friday in Common Pleas Court in two cases. The Ohio Edison Company Akron has received a restraining order against Janice C. and Paul Solomon of Salem RD, ordering the couple not to interfere with company employees conducting a preliminary examination and survey of the firm's proposed transmission line on the defendants' farm in Butler Township.

The survey is being made for a power line which will run from Stratton to Alliance for the general benefit of a large number of people, the petition claims.

Andrew G. Myers Sr. of East Liverpool was issued a restraining order against the International Brotherhood of Electrical workers, ordering the union to refrain from interfering or molesting him.

Myers, an electrician working on a home in East Liverpool, said he was molested because he would not join the union or hire brotherhood electricians on his job.

The majority of whistles used by police and athletic officials are made in Columbus.

Guarding Your Health

By Dr. EDWIN P. JORDAN

Diabetes Is a Serious Disease

I become quite alarmed each year by certain similar letters from correspondents. They either ask me for a diet for diabetes or state that the writer (or some relative) knows he has the disease and wonders if he should have medical attention for it.

Diabetes, which is a disease characterized principally by an increase above normal of sugar in the blood and in elimination of sugar in the urine, is not a condition to be taken lightly.

PROBABLY THE most frequent symptoms are thirst and excessive urination but other symptoms may be present. Indeed, someone may have diabetes with all symptoms absent or unnoticed.

It is certainly not safe for a victim of diabetes to go for any length of time without medical supervision. Furthermore, adding and subtracting to the diet without medical control is hazardous.

Advice rendered from a distance would also be extremely dangerous since everyone with diabetes — or any other serious disease for that matter — needs individual and not mail-order treatment.

Untreated diabetes can lead to serious complications. Persons with diabetes are more liable than others to hardening of the arteries and its complications. In the feet and legs, for example, the combination of diabetes and hardening of the arteries may lead to infection and sometimes to death of a tissue.

PERSONS WITH diabetes are likewise more susceptible to coronary thrombosis or angina pectoris, both involving the heart, than those who do not have this disease.

Serious eye complications are not uncommon in patients with undiagnosed or unsatisfactorily treated diabetes. Neglect of this disease can lead, in severe cases, to progressive loss of weight and eventually to death.

Even today there are far too many people who are careless about their diets or insulin and consequently develop serious complications which might have been avoided.

Diabetes should be identified as early as possible and exact treatment with diet, and if necessary, insulin, must be outlined. Those afflicted with this disease cannot be careless about following instructions if they wish to avoid painful or serious complications and possibly even an untimely death.

It should be emphasized again that individual management is essential. No two persons with diabetes are exactly alike in their requirements.
